Focus on Georgetown High School

One of the most remembered phases of life is your high school career. As you progress deeper into maturity, your high school annual becomes more and more important because it is a picture record of six of the most treasured years of your life.

During your twelve school years, most of your time is spent in the classroom, striving to learn and learning to strive for bigger and better things.

As you look back at your past year, was it a memorable one? If so, then take a trip into the past, as we the annual staff, present to you, the students, the 1962 Aerie.

Administration . . .

Administration

Mr. Joe Barnes, Superintendent: B. A., Southwestern; M. A., Texas University.

Mr. Barnes, with the aid of his secretary, Mrs. Stuart, rests briefly from an attempt to clear his desk of the many pressing matters which are necessary for the administration of Georgetown Public Schools. Although the students rarely see Mr. Barnes or Mrs. Stuart, we know that much efficient work is done in his office, and we connect Mr. Barnes with a job well done.

Mr. Bernard Lax, Counselor: B. A., University of Georgia, Masters at University of Texas; Doctoral-Program at University of Texas.

It's no laughing matter, especially when the student has a serious problem. Nevertheless, Mr. Lax, below, is able to extract some humor from almost any situation. The relaxed and friendly atmosphere of his office has caused students to welcome and enjoy the process of counseling.

Mr. Everett Williams, Principal: A.B., Baylor; M. A., Texas Tech.

Classic position for Mr. Williams and his efficient secretary, Mrs. Jones, is an attitude of thinking as they attack the problems of the school day. Mrs. Jones helps smooth the way for the teachers and gets the news to the student as well as keeping the office details organized. Our principal, Mr. Williams, is a patient and conscientious teacher, as well as a friend. Daily he works his way through the welter of administrative detail. His ability to serve cheerfully makes him a prominent person in Georgetown.

There are many discouraging and confusing jobs connected with putting out your yearbook, none of which is worse than collecting money for pictures. This was a day when the books wouldn't balance, and almost no one is happy, but these expressions will change if you like our 1962 Aerie.

Classes . . .

Academic Section

We give you each teacher's line - something frequently said, and possibly typical of the teacher's viewpoint concerning his subject.

Mrs. Lorraine Hindelang: B. S., Trinity University; English, Sponsor of the National Honor Society.
"Let's see what the dictionary says."

Why all the smiling faces? This class is enjoying a little music. They are listening to, "The King and I." This is Mrs. Hindelang's 5th period sophomore English class.

Mrs. McCoy's Spanish I students are dressed appropriately for their various parts in a skit done for their classmates. We see that they have managed the flavor, and we believe that they can achieve the accent.

Mrs. Raye McCoy:
B. A., Centenary College; Spanish
Sponsor of the Pan American Forum.
"Guess, guess, guess, but guess intelligently!"

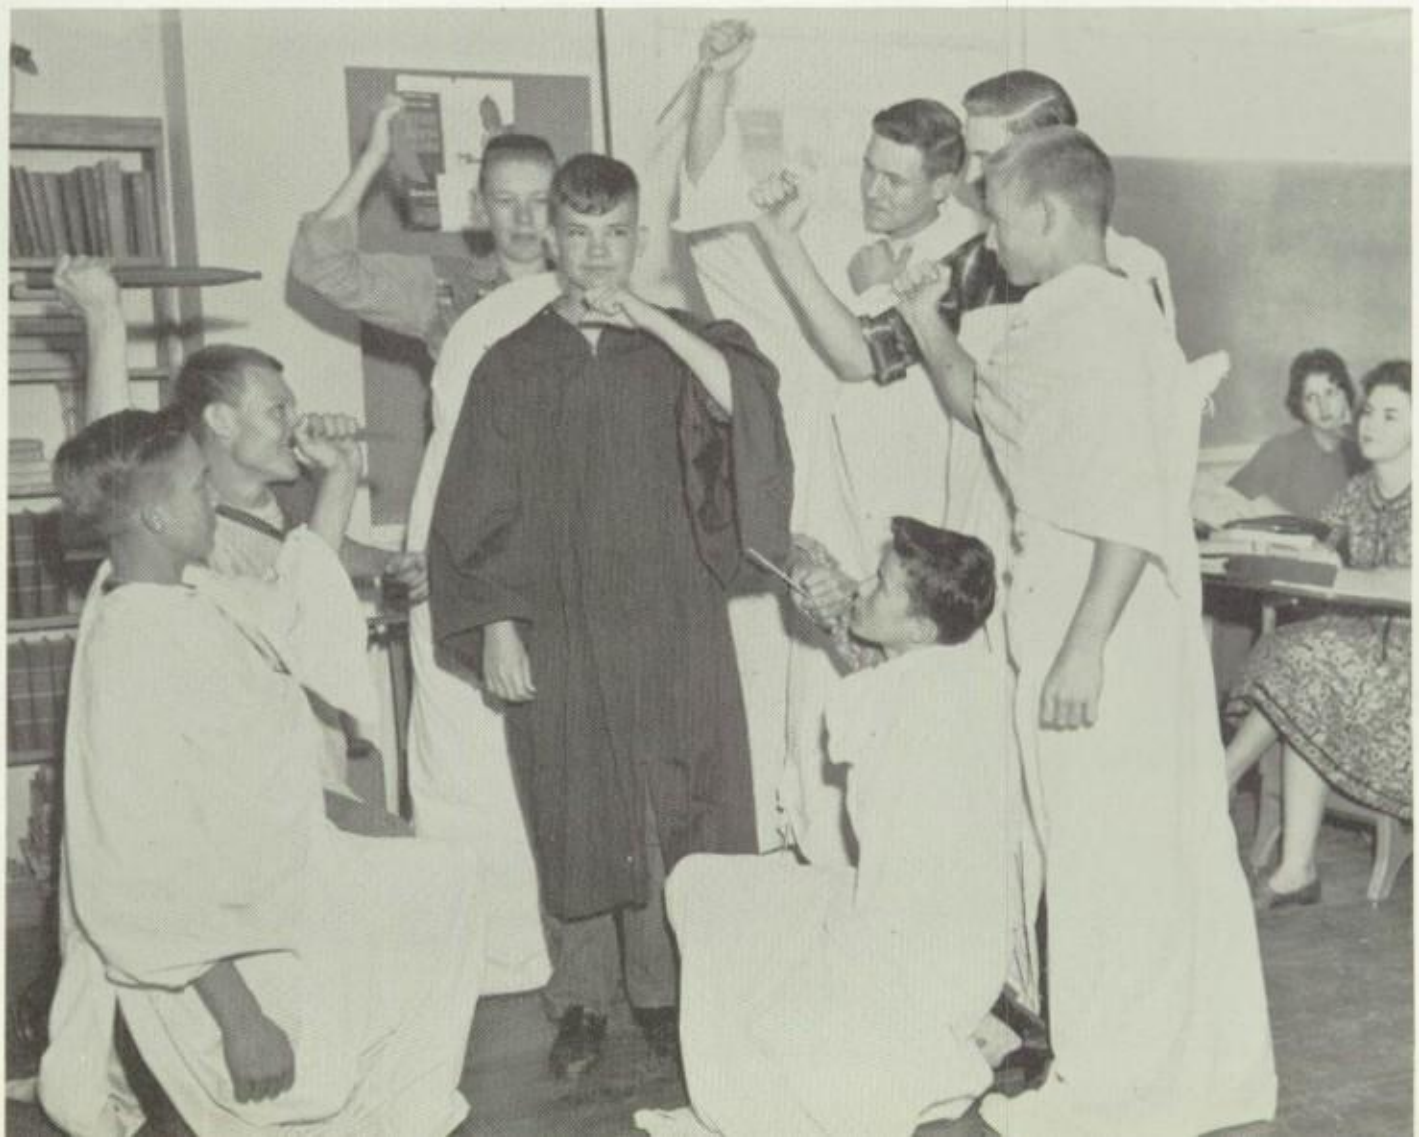
This section is to give you a quick view of some of the events which take place in our classrooms. Remember??

Preston's report in English IV is being judged as to the degree of accuracy, correctness, and of course, for interest and color!

Mrs. Frances Springer: B. A., Baker University:
English, Speech, Sponsor of Soc'n' Buskin, directs all plays. "Good and nice are BLAH words! If you'll read, read, read, your vocabulary will be more colorful!"

Miss Agnes Wilcox:
B. A., Southwestern University:
English I, II; Co-Sponsor of Eagle Echo.
"You can do anything you want to do if you want to do it badly enough."

Placid victim, Jimmy Armstrong, knows too well that this stabbing is just an act from Julius Caesar, studied in Miss Wilcox's English II class.



Coach Stelzer's World History

Mr. Fritz Stelzer:
B. S., University of Texas;
Head basketball coach and "B" Team football coach, Civics and World History.
"Don't be afraid of enthusiasm - it works."

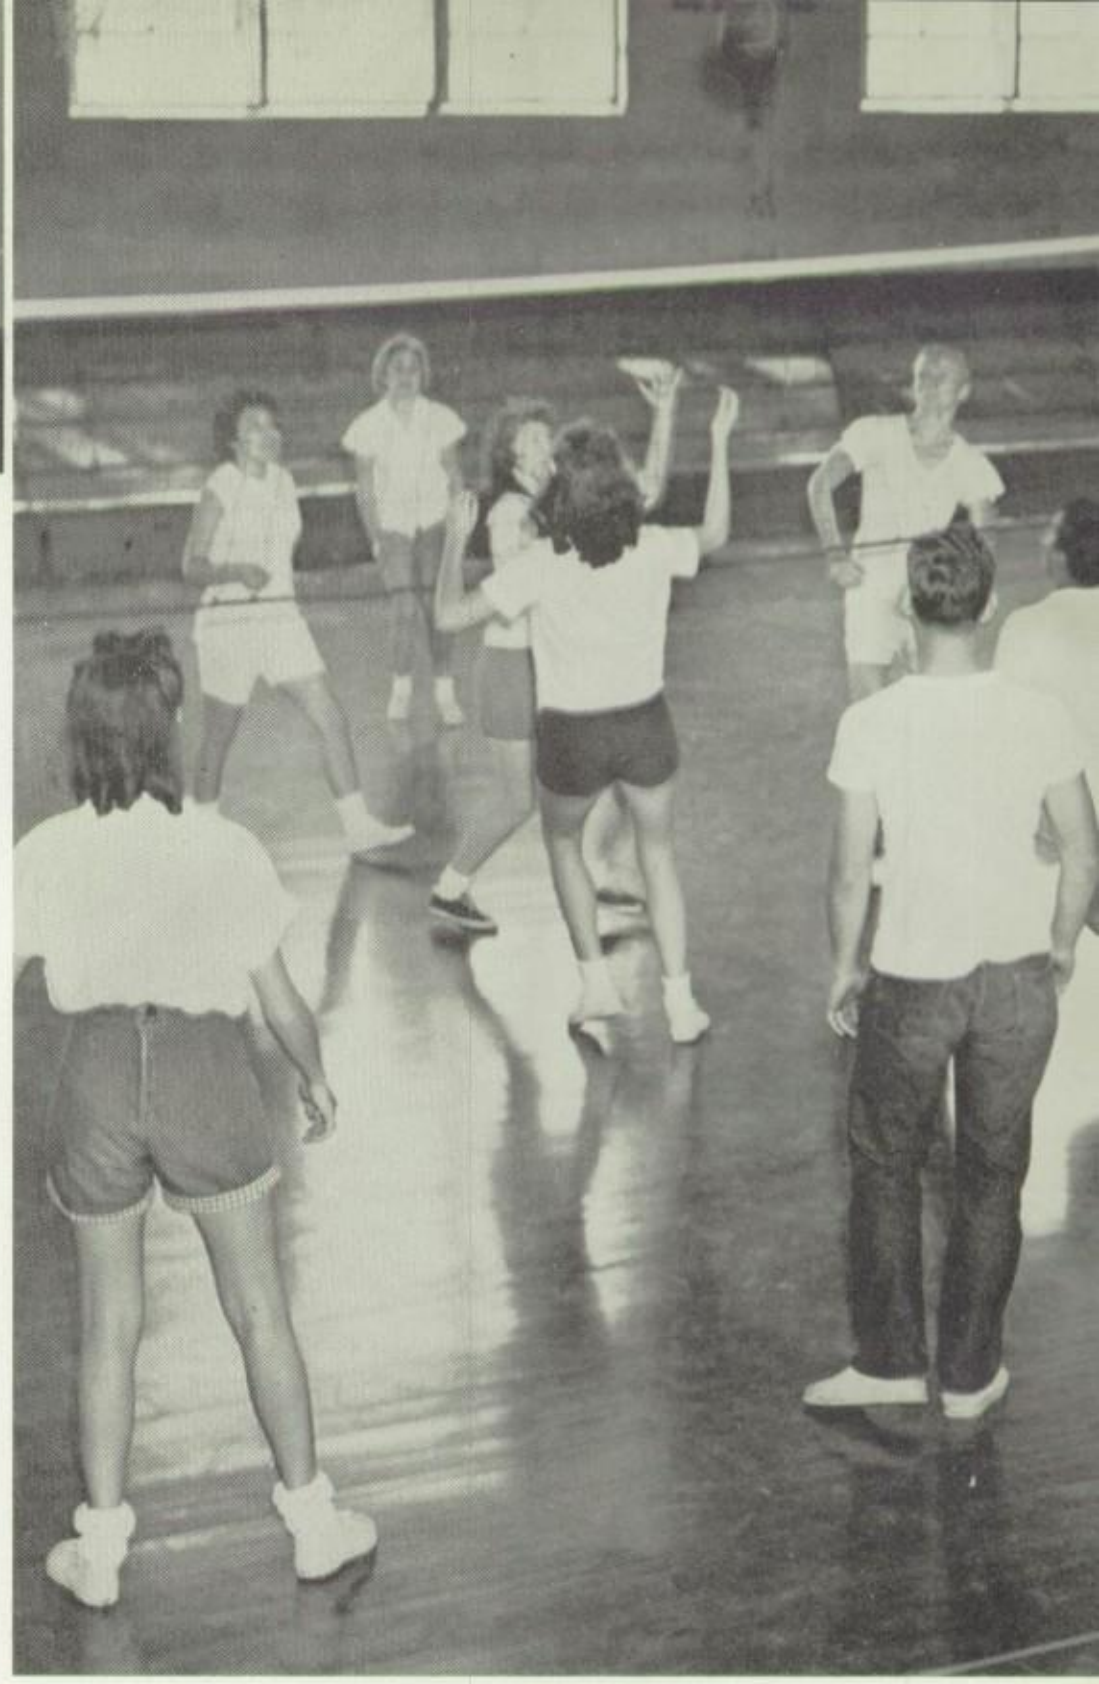
Miss Burleson's American History.

Miss Eula Joyce Burleson: B. A., Mary Hardin Baylor; M. A., Southwestern University; History and Civics.
"Each student should be able to think for himself."

Miss Mary Helen Gilbert
B. S., North Texas State; Girls' Physical Education.
"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Mr. Fred Bell:
B. S., University of Houston; World History, P. E., Assistant Football Coach, 8th Basketball, and Track Coach.
"After all is said and done, more is said than done."

Mrs. Anita Ryan:
B. B. A., Baylor; Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping.
Assists the Annual Staff with getting advertising, and is co-sponsor of the paper, the Eagle Echo.
"I'm sorry, but we do not teach you how to embezzle in this bookkeeping course."



All these girls and boys are enjoying a good ole game of volleyball in P.E. class.

So many girls - and only one BUD! No one is interested in anything but warmup drills - that is not much.

Miss Barbara Barnett:
B. S. , University of Texas; Librarian.

Miss Barnett has done and is doing a wonderful job of cleaning out our library, of properly cataloguing our books, and of trying to instill a feeling of respect for books. Here she is checking out a book to Douglas Newsome, and she will probably give him some advice about caring for the book and returning it promptly.

Mrs. Carlson is certainly a fine person for her task of keeping the students quiet in study hall. Of course, her constant remark is; "Sit down; get quiet. "

Mrs. Danelley: T. W. U. Denton, Texas, Homemaking; Co-Sponsor of F. H. A.
"Homemaking will show you how to keep a man happy, but we can't supply the man." This homemaking class is hard at work getting ready for the style show.

Below: General Homemaking students look very satisfied because they have just finished setting their table correctly.

Miss Genevieve Mason:
B. S., Mary Hardin Baylor; Homemaking, Sponsor of F. H. A.
"If there's an easier way of doing the job, we're looking for the way."

These chemistry students have an opportunity to improve their listening skills as Mr. Williams lectures.

Mr. Everett Williams:
Principal, Chemistry Teacher; A.B., Baylor; M.A., Texas Tech.
"Get out of the shallows of life; launch out into the deep. Think, dream, meditate; develop a burning desire."

Susan aids Mrs. Barnes in pointing out various things on the chart as other students take notes.

Mrs. Lilla Barnes:
B.S., Southwestern University; General Science, Biology; Co-Sponsor of the Student Council, Assists with Science and Math Club.
"He prayeth best who loveth best, All things both great and small. For the great God who loveth us, He made and loveth all."

Coach Birklebach:
"Give that ball to Calhoun."

Mr. Bernard Birklebach: B. A. and Master of Education, Southwestern University; Algebra I; Head Football Coach.

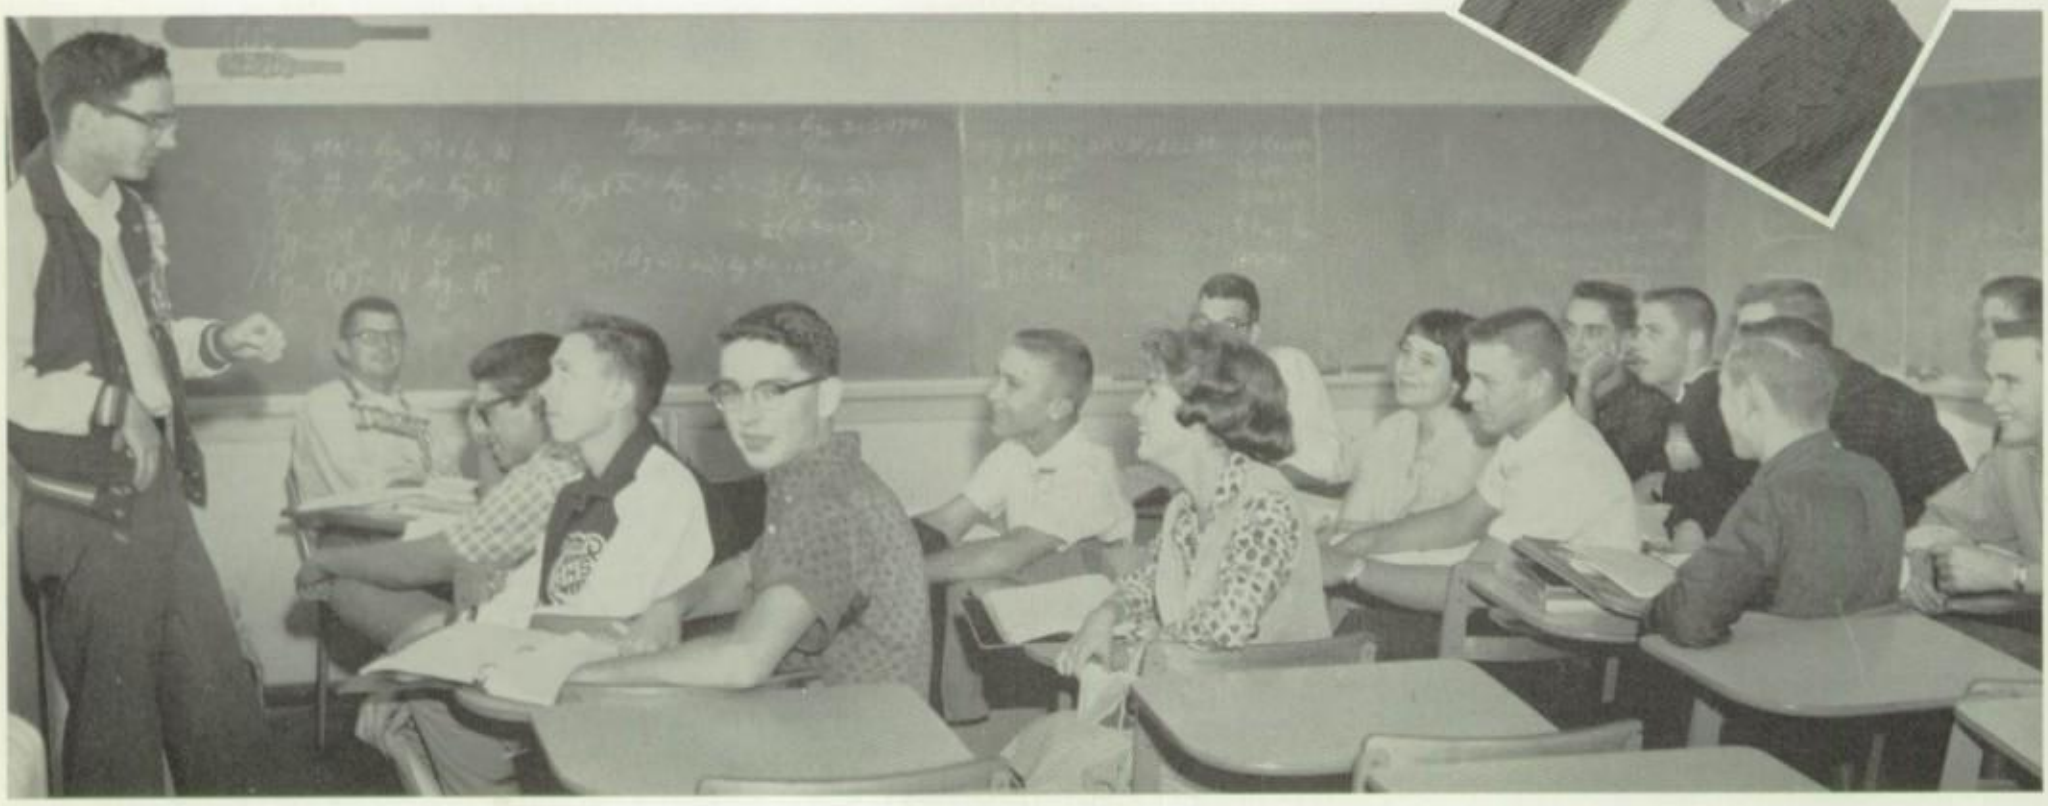
Coach Birk's algebra students take turns working problems at the board.

Mrs. Oneita Medley (below): B. A., Hardin-Simmons; M. A., University of Texas; Chemistry, Physics, General Science, Co-Sponsor of Science and Math Club. "Let's quiet down and do some thinking instead of so much talking."

All of the students in this general science class of Mrs. Medley's are having fun examining the test tubes and mixing various chemicals." It's not all fun - there may be a test tomorrow.

Mr. Wynne: "I deal in figures geometric,
Algebraic and trigometric.
I give out home work, though it's likely
To cause an ever thwarted psyche!"

Mr. Joe Wynne: B. S. in Education Southwestern University; 1st and 2nd year Algebra, Plane Geometry, Trig and Solid.

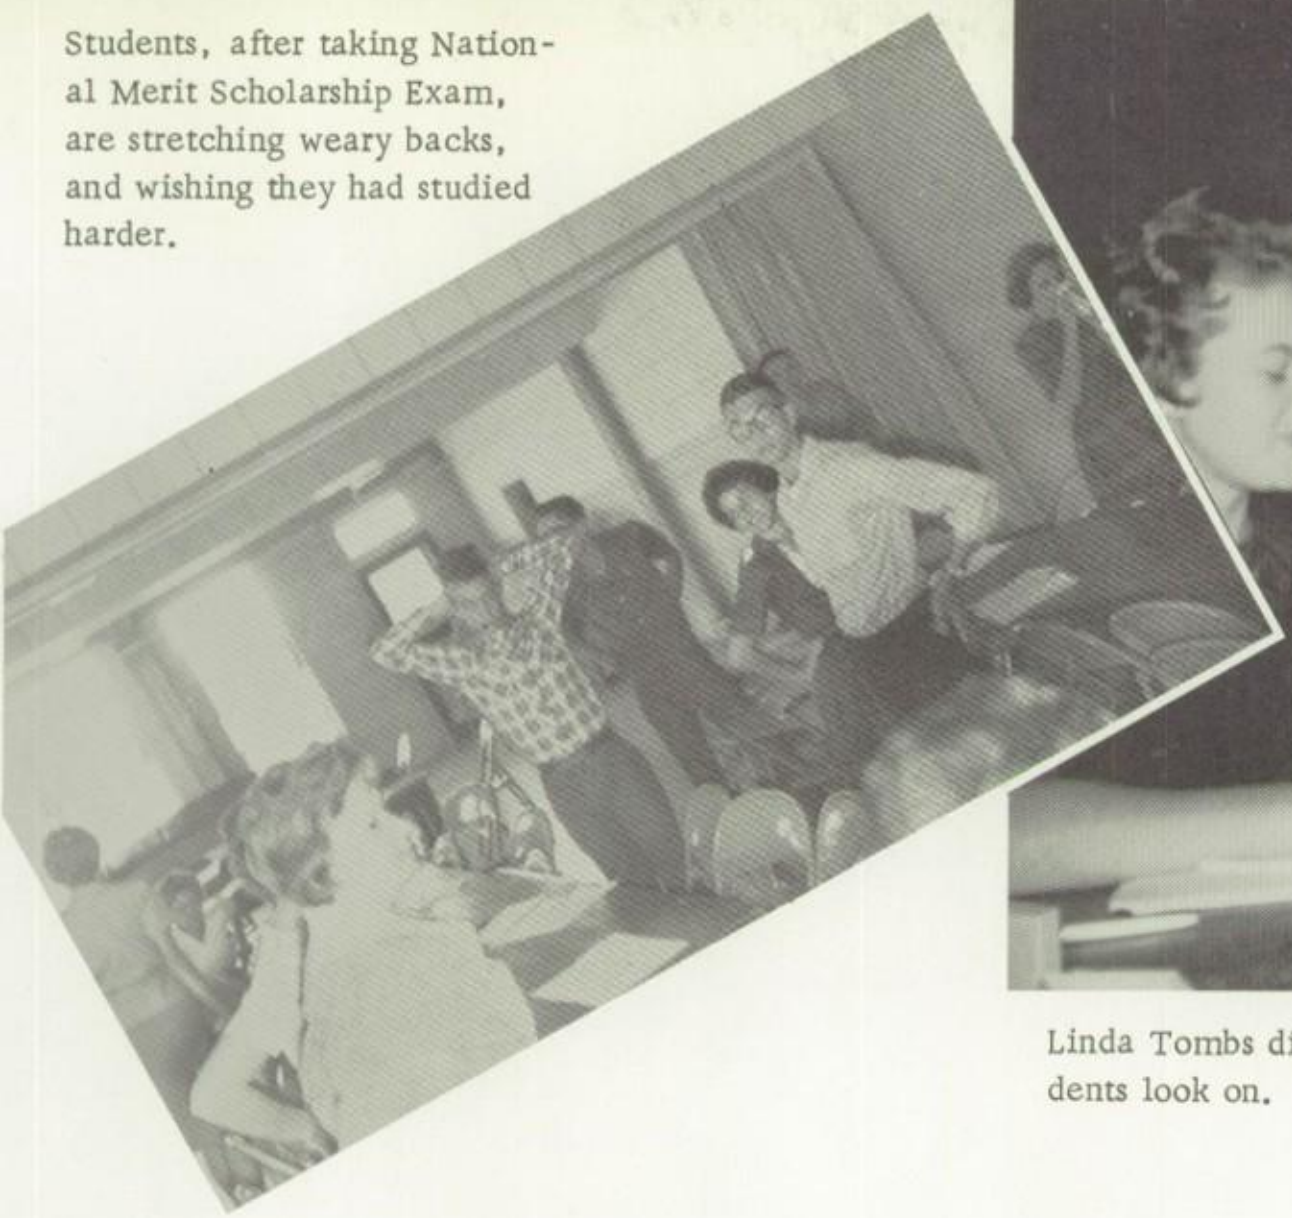


Sterling Eanes explains a problem to the Trig class, while Mr. Wynne rests and criticizes.

James Cairnes: B. S., Texas A&M; Vocational Agriculture, Sponsor of F. F. A.
"Horse play is for horses. Promptness is a virtue."

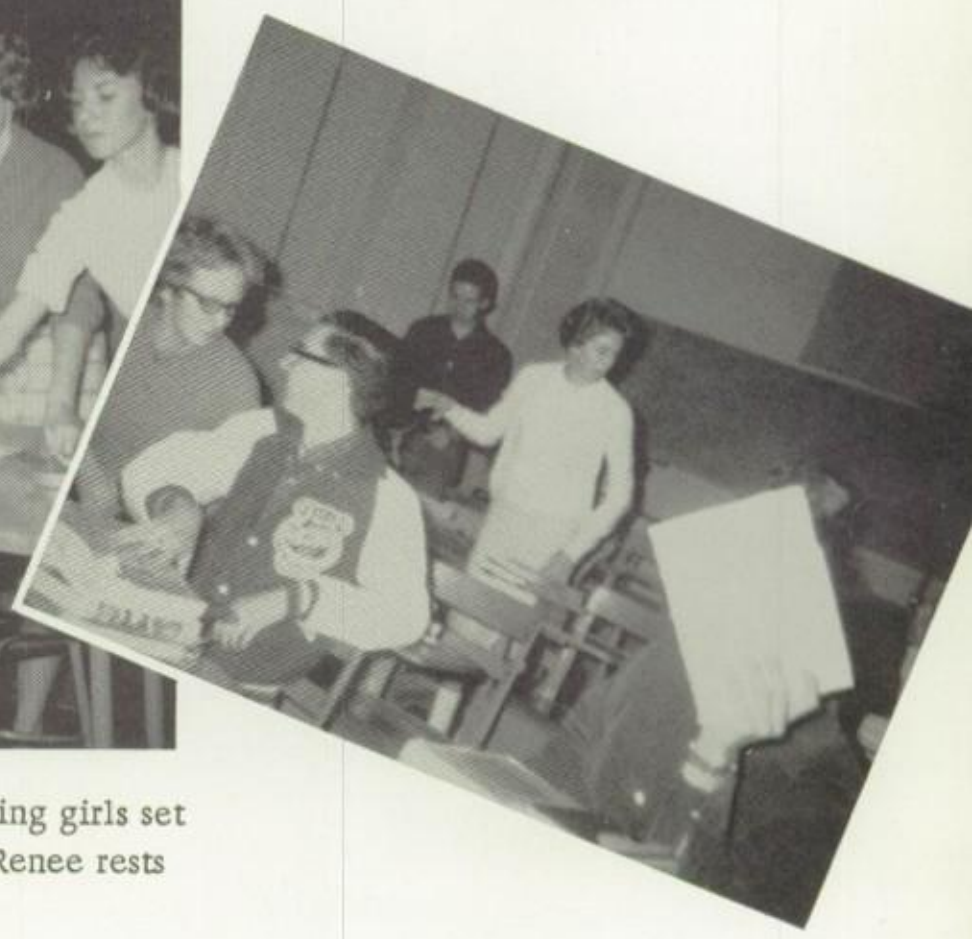
Agriculture seems to be the favorite subject of most boys, especially the ones in Mr. Cairnes's 4th period class.

Students, after taking National Merit Scholarship Exam, are stretching weary backs, and wishing they had studied harder.



Linda Tombs disects a crayfish in Biology as two other students look on.

A typical scene of chemistry class before Mrs. Medly comes.

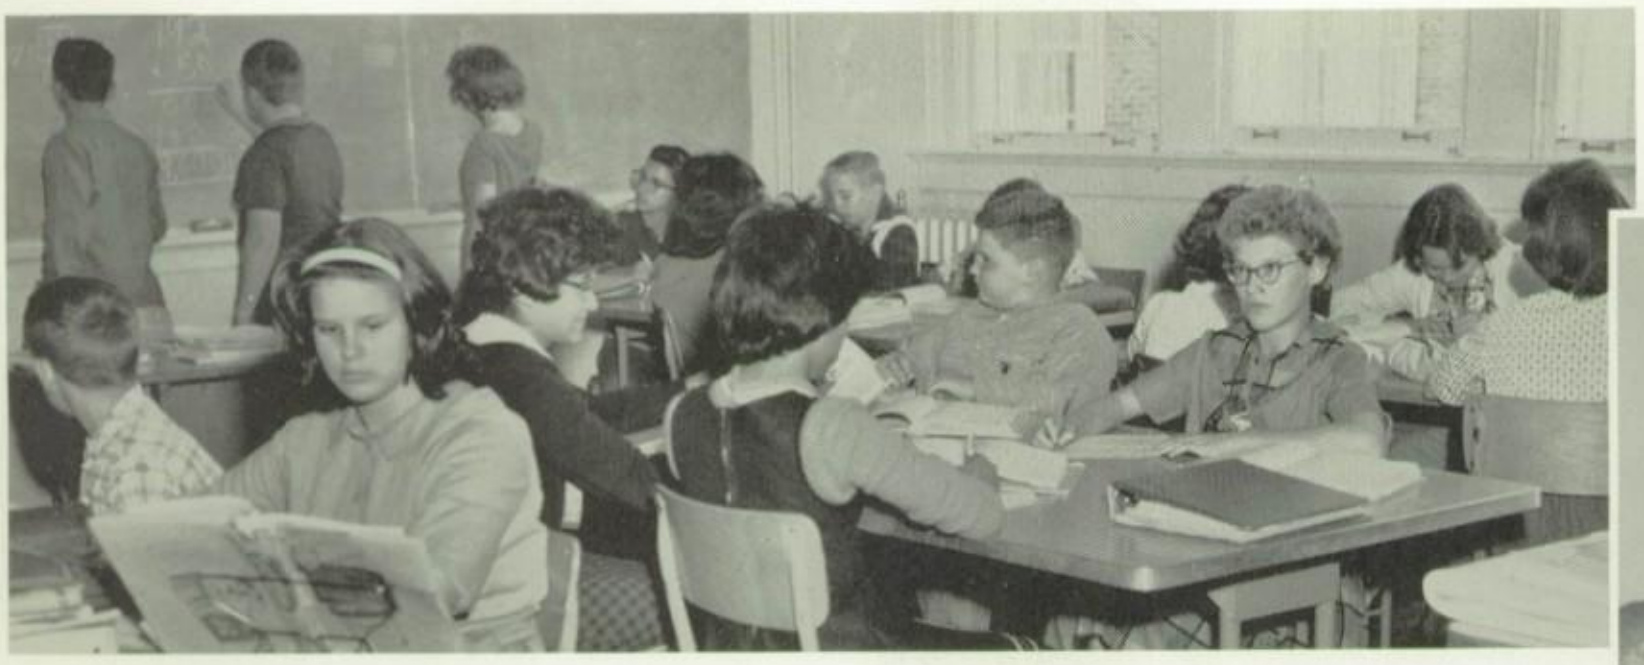


Kandy and Fred find 3rd period Biology very amusing.

Three homemaking girls set the table while Renee rests her tired feet.

Junior High Academic Section

One of Mr. Kirschner's arithmetic classes.



Mr. Robert Kirschner: M. A. in Education, Southwest State Teachers' College: 7th and 8th Arithmetic.

Mr. Kirschner also coaches 8th grade football, is assistant basketball coach and is baseball coach. "I didn't take you to raise."

Mrs. Sanders holds the attention of the English class.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sanders: B.A., Southwestern University: Language Arts, 7th Grade. "I'm not going to talk down to you; I'm going to use words that will challenge your knowledge of English."

Everyone is doing something in Mrs. McClain's 7th Grade math class.

Mrs. Rosamond McClain, Ph.B., University of Chicago, 7th and 8th math; Annual Sponsor.
"Nothing is hard when you understand how to do it."

Mr. David Paine:
B. S., Lamar Tech.; Physical Education in High School, 7th Grade Football and Basketball, 7th Grade Science.
"If one is busy, he will have no time for talking."

Mr. Paine's 7th Grace Science Class.

Sarah Hausenfluke and Joanne Matysek admire some of the properties used to make Mrs. Jones's Spanish class more interesting.

Mrs. Lillian Jones: B. A., Sam Houston College; M. A., University of Texas; 7th Grade Social Studies, 8th Grade Spanish.

Mrs. Jones says, "You can't be an intelligent citizen of Texas unless you know something about its past, and a lot about its present."

Here practice teacher, Jim Reed, practices on Mrs. Hicks's social studies class.

Mrs. Faye Hicks: B. A., Sam Houston State; Social Studies, 8th Grade, Reading, 7th Grade.

MRS. HICKS: You can't judge a book by its cover."

Mr. Billy Rosser: B. S., Texas A&M; General Science, 8th Grade Science.
"If you'll give me your undivided attention, I'll try to make this problem clear to you."

Mrs. Frances Nell Armstrong: B. A., Southwestern University; English, 8th Grade; Reading and Literature 7th.

"This course in English is made up of the alphabet. Let's break it up into 26 letters. That makes it easy."

Junior High Football and Basketball

These future district winners, under the guidance of Coach Kirschner, enjoyed a good year as 8th grade footballers.

Instant brand basketball boys (8th). Blow the whistle, and you have them all up ready to scramble.

Above, 8th grade boys in a game with Bertram.

Look alive! These 7th graders are also ready for action, and they believe in themselves and in their coach, Mr. Payne.

Junior High Band

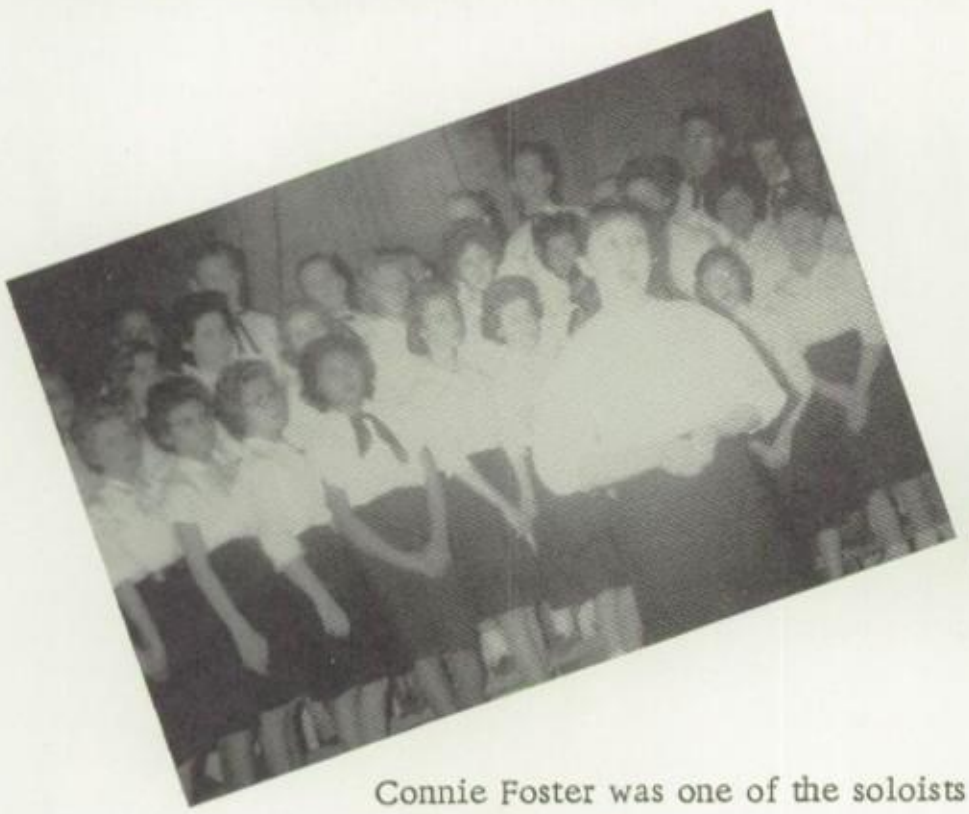
These two pictures of the 7th grade band do not show all members, just a sampling.

Some of the members of the 8th grade band gang up on Gary Sansom. If he's not tone deaf now, he will be when every one blows at once!

Other 8th grade members show various reactions to instructions given them by their director, Mr. Jackson. We think that Mr. Jackson has just asked, "How many hours did you practice?"

Junior High Chorus

Looking very prim and proper (welcome change) these little lovelies inspire us all with their angelic singing, which is a tribute to them and their director, Mr. Scarcella.



Connie Foster was one of the soloists at the Christmas program.

Oh, sour note??

Early hours, much practice, fine results.

Important People

for whom the seventh graders (and all the rest of us) make lots of work.

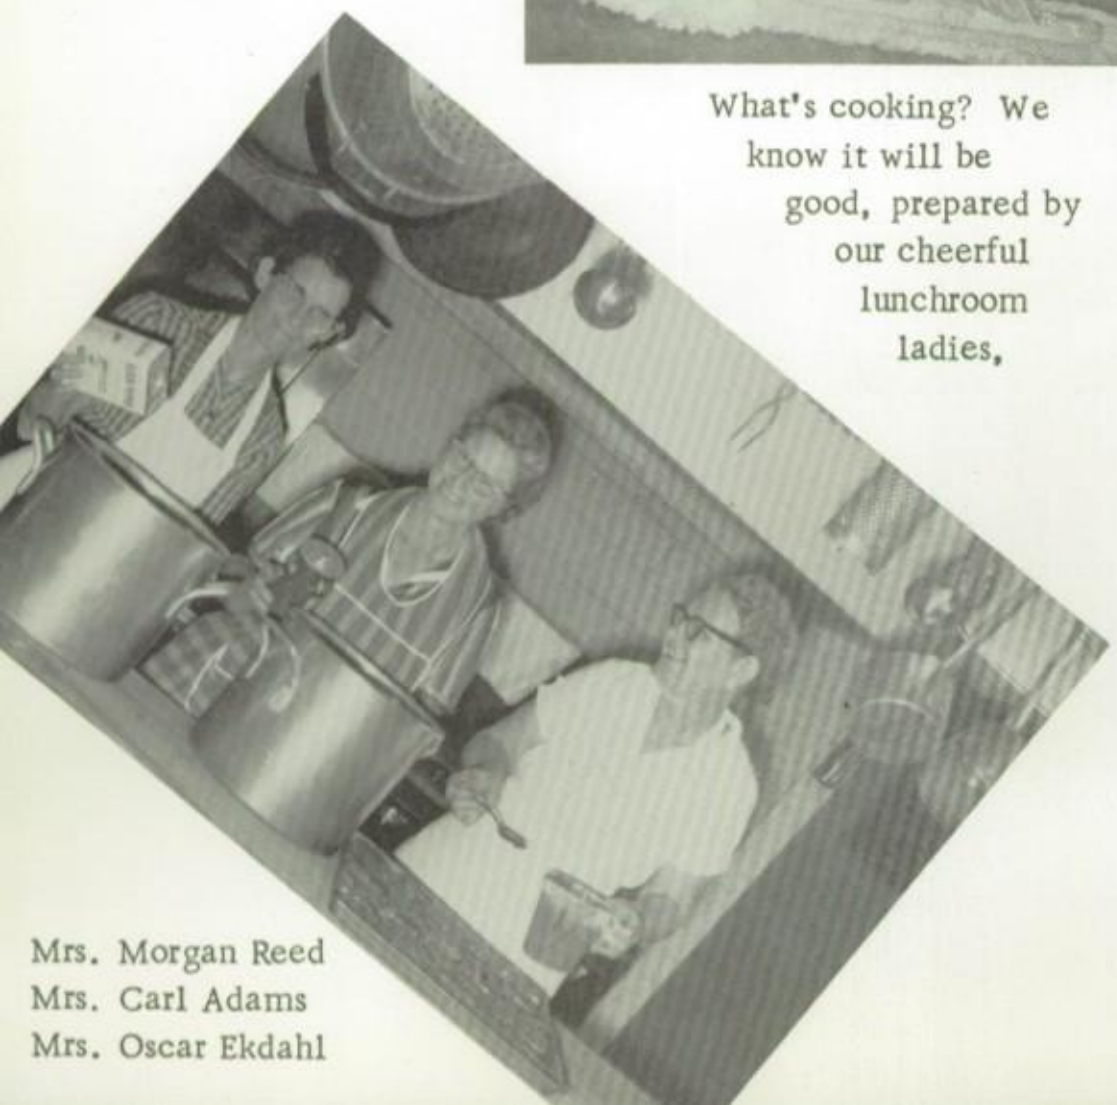
Happy seventh graders enjoy a break in math class so that their charming smiles may be recorded for posterity.

Mrs. Hicks is one of the teachers who always has an attractive bulletin board.

Some of the heros and heroines of our daily lives are the people who keep our school clean, repair the broken things and prepare our lunches. In case we haven't seemed to appreciate them properly, the annual staff takes this opportunity to thank all of them for jobs well done, and for cheerful faces while working.

Double duty might be the motto of Johnnie Napier and his wife, who are always ready to help us.

"Don't push the water fountain," says Bill Waggoner. But since some students never learn, Mr. Waggoner has to repair the fountains many times.



What's cooking? We know it will be good, prepared by our cheerful lunchroom ladies,

Top-Ranking Seniors

Each spring many high school juniors across the nation take the National Merit Qualifying Test, which measures scholastic ability in five major areas. The 10,000 students with the highest overall scores are selected to be semi-finalists, and are then required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test given by the College Board. On the basis of these tests, one-half of one percent of the number of high school seniors become finalists. About ten percent of these receive National Merit Scholarships; others receive scholarships from other sources.

Back to School Night

is a time for parents and teachers to meet under relaxed circumstances, to visit, discuss Johnny or Susie, to enjoy a program, and to look at the exhibits arranged by various organizations.

The Student Council has sponsored this event for several years.

Oh, my feet are killing me! I thought I'd fall down in the middle of high C!

Laura Weir and John Atkin look over the Soc'n' Busk-in exhibit. The pennants shown might give you an idea of their many wins!

Sometimes, on "Back to School" night, the parents tell the teachers!

Sometimes the children tell the parents, like, "Come see my exhibit, Daddy!"

Mildred admires the F. H. A. exhibit. Jeanne managed to admire it and still hang on to the cookies.

Confirmed punch drinker, Kenneth Morris, gives Jeanne and Arlene an idea. They sample punch, just to make sure it is properly flavored, of course.

The Mystery of the Ming Tree

This two act play, directed by Mrs. Frances Springer, gave our Soc'n' Buskin members their first opportunity to participate in children's theatre. In every way the play was successful. With the profits the drama department bought a tape recorder.

The entire cast.

Jeannie Mayo, Mah Jong, finds a husband, Ding Dong, (Sammy Stevens) as prop men, Jeanne Behrens and Linda Tombs, hold up the sign indicating his shop.

"The old man of the mountain draws near," cries Golden Bells, (below) Becky Switzer, to the lowly gardner boy, Lee Po, Bill Elliott.

Ping Pong, Jane Williams, is greatly excited by the delectable odors coming from the cooking pots of Wing Wong, Tommy Peaslee.

Ling Yun, the Mandarin (Bob Giddings) is sad of face as the wicked sorcerer (Gary Montgomery) reads from his black book.

The kind Wazir (Richard Oliveri) tries to reason with the Prologue. (Les Girvin)

JOURNEY

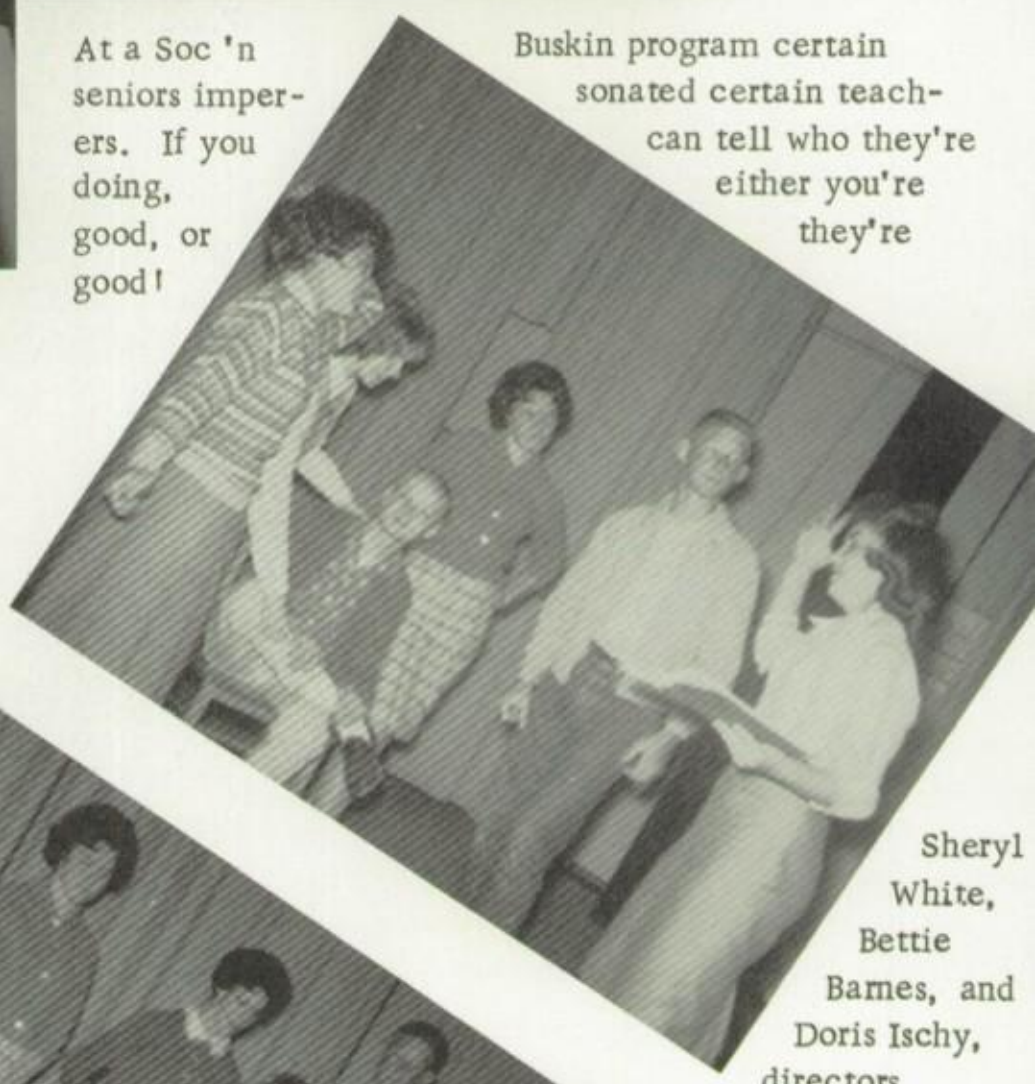
Soc'n'Buskin Capers

At a Soc 'n Buskin program certain seniors impersonated certain teachers. If you can tell who they're doing, either you're good, or they're good!



The senior play has a cast of three, Ernest, Alma and Jane, also a bottle. Director Eileen Adams ponders their actions.

Sheryl White, Bettie Barnes, and Doris Ischy, directors of the freshman play, try a few hysterics to influence the cast. The next scene shows that the whole cast is good at spying.

Beverley gets in still another word as she attempts to straighten out the action in the sophomore play. If she is discouraged, it's no wonder, for in both of these scenes the characters were supposed to register fright.

The A' Cappella Choir have sparked and improved many of our assembly programs with their singing.

Our prize songbirds: Joyce Partain, All Regional, 1st alternate for All State; Sheryl White, All Regional; Beverley Gervasi, All Regional. Brian Adkin also received recognition as a soloist, being in the All Regional choir.

Newly elected Student Conductor Gary Montgomery seeks aid and advice from more experienced Joyce. Joyce: "Take it easy, Monk! Explain to them how you interpret the music."

Conductor Jackson arranged a real surprise for senior band members on the "jacket day." Senior band members who had contributed four years of service to the band were surprised to see their new band jackets descending from above, as they were lowered on this back drop. The three "squeelers" (pictured right) got their jackets on promptly.

"A" and "B" Volleyball

"A" VOLLEYBALL: Darlene Lackey, Co-Captains Nancy Reid and Linda Tombs, Marian Fleischer, Kay Raum, Sharon Kimbro, Ann Ishy, and Arlene Jacob. Due to the excellent P.E. teachers, both now and in the past, as well as to the interest of the girls, sports for girls are becoming more inportant.

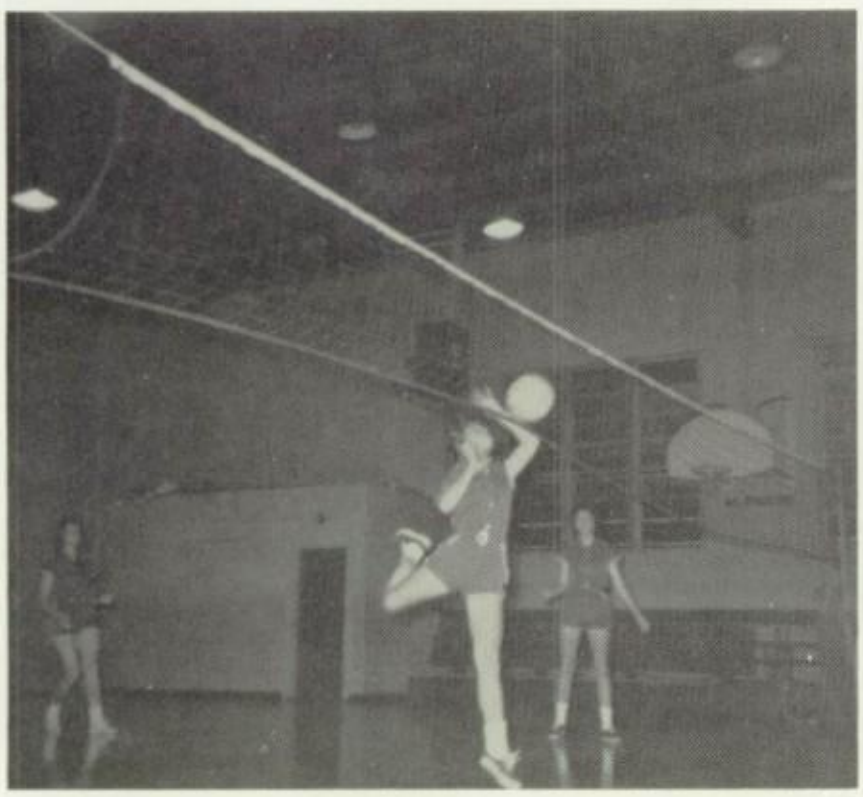
"B" VOLLEYBALL: Jane Williams, Judy Mahlmann, Co-Capt. Elaine Miller, Trudy Case, Carolyn Threadgill, Linda Peterson, Nova Powers, Evelyn Cagle, and Co-Capt., Pat Laubach.

Girls' Volleyball

is becoming increasingly more important, and is holding its own in Girls' Sports in Georgetown High School. The girls' volleyball team has a fine season. If you didn't see one of their games, you really missed some good entertainment.

First come the uniforms. Nancy, Marion, Linda and Sharon try to sort out good uniforms from the old ones.

Next comes Practice, Practice, Practice, for the coming game. Last minute instructions are given, the girls get into the huddle, and then . . .

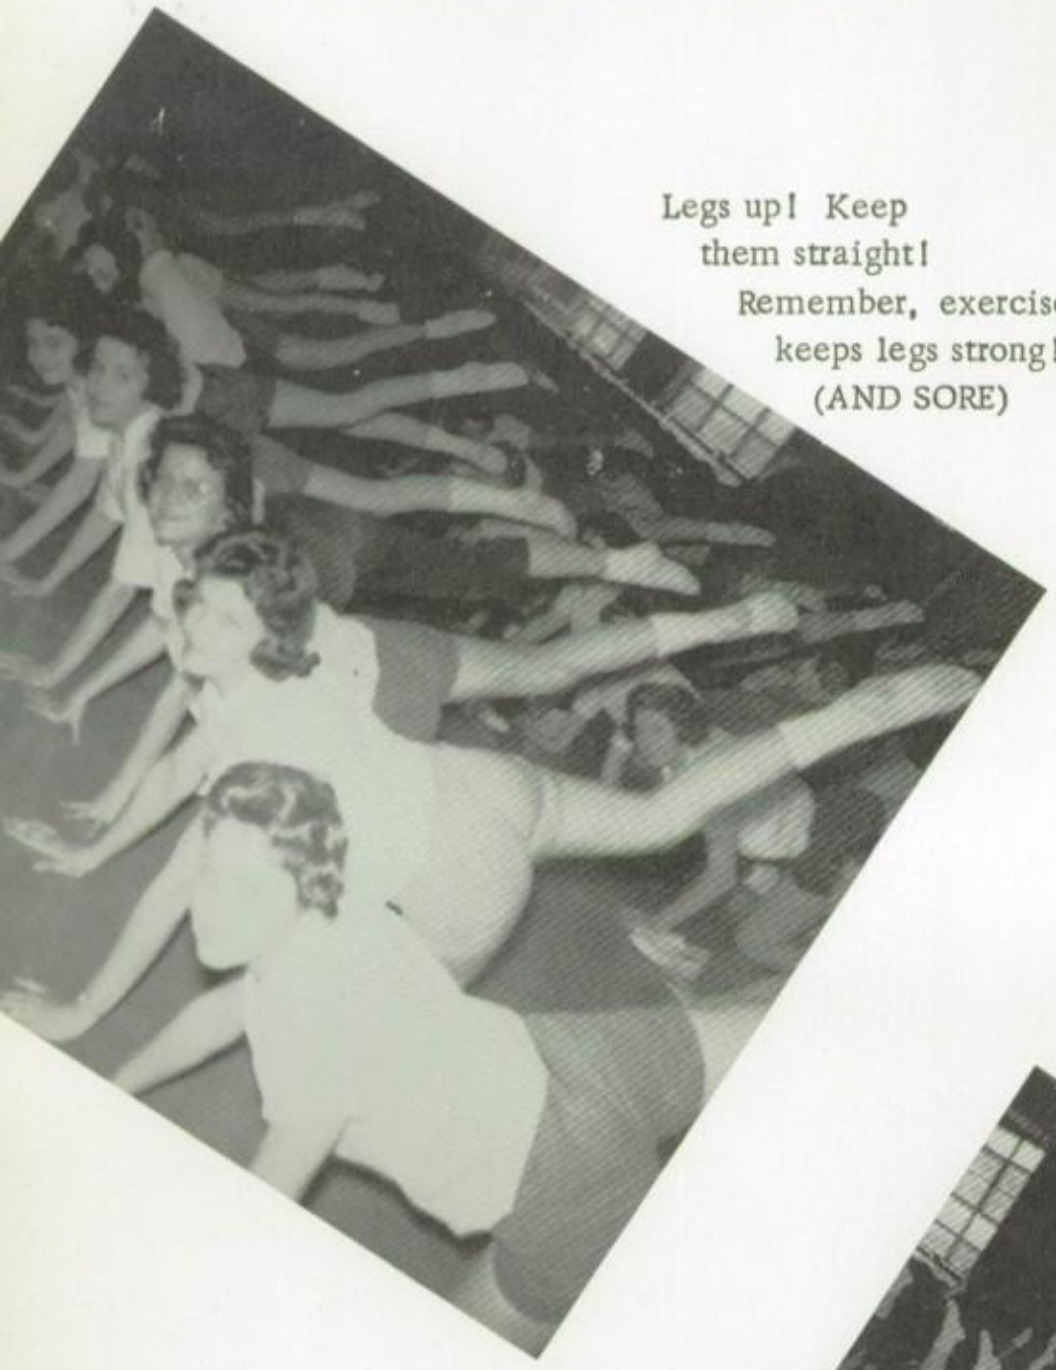


the crucial moment . . . the game! Sharon tries to get the ball out of the net, then sets one up to Linda, who jumps and tries to spike it.

Girls' Softball and Class Exercise

Mary Queen prepares for a hard pitched ball, hoping that Nancy will swing and miss.

Sharon Kimbo (below) winds up to put the ball straight over the plate.



Legs up! Keep them straight! Remember, exercise keeps legs strong! (AND SORE)

One, two, three, four, and up! Guess what? Even the teacher does the exercises.

Up! Down. Up! Down. One of the most important things in P.E. is having strong enough legs to keep up with Miss Gilbert's exercises.

MODERN SKITS

Modern Dance? Namely, "Skip to Maloo."

Tennis Anyone?

There is still some horror at old G.H.S. Marty, don't run from the ball!

More Modern Dancing?

These Girls are ready to set up for the volleyball game.

Wilma Jo is trembling so much that she blurred the picture.

I really can't see what good I'll get out of throwing away imaginary flowers! . . . Now, girls, modern dance is good for your figure, and it will increase your imagination and your grace. One of the exercises that all the girls had to do was to spell out their names with dance steps.

Sharon and Marian measure Nancy, using a rock and a string. They are going to find out if Nancy's posture is correct. Such devices as this help us all to discover and correct minor defects.

Standing straight, being graceful, running fast, . . . these abilities are all fine, but to play good volleyball there's teamwork and chartwork. These girls from 6th period P.E. study diagrams for setting up and spiking in volleyball.

Susan, below: "Where is everybody? And just as I got to the best part of my dance!"

Stretch! Try harder! Don't mind the sore muscles, for after you get out the kinks, you'll walk like Queens, we hope.

Everybody up! A grand finale to a grand section, GIRLS' SPORTS.

"B" Team Basketball

These boys are all freshmen or sophomores, and show fine promise because of their fighting spirit and willingness to work hard.

Melvin Jacob drives for a basket in the Elgin-Georgetown "B" team game.

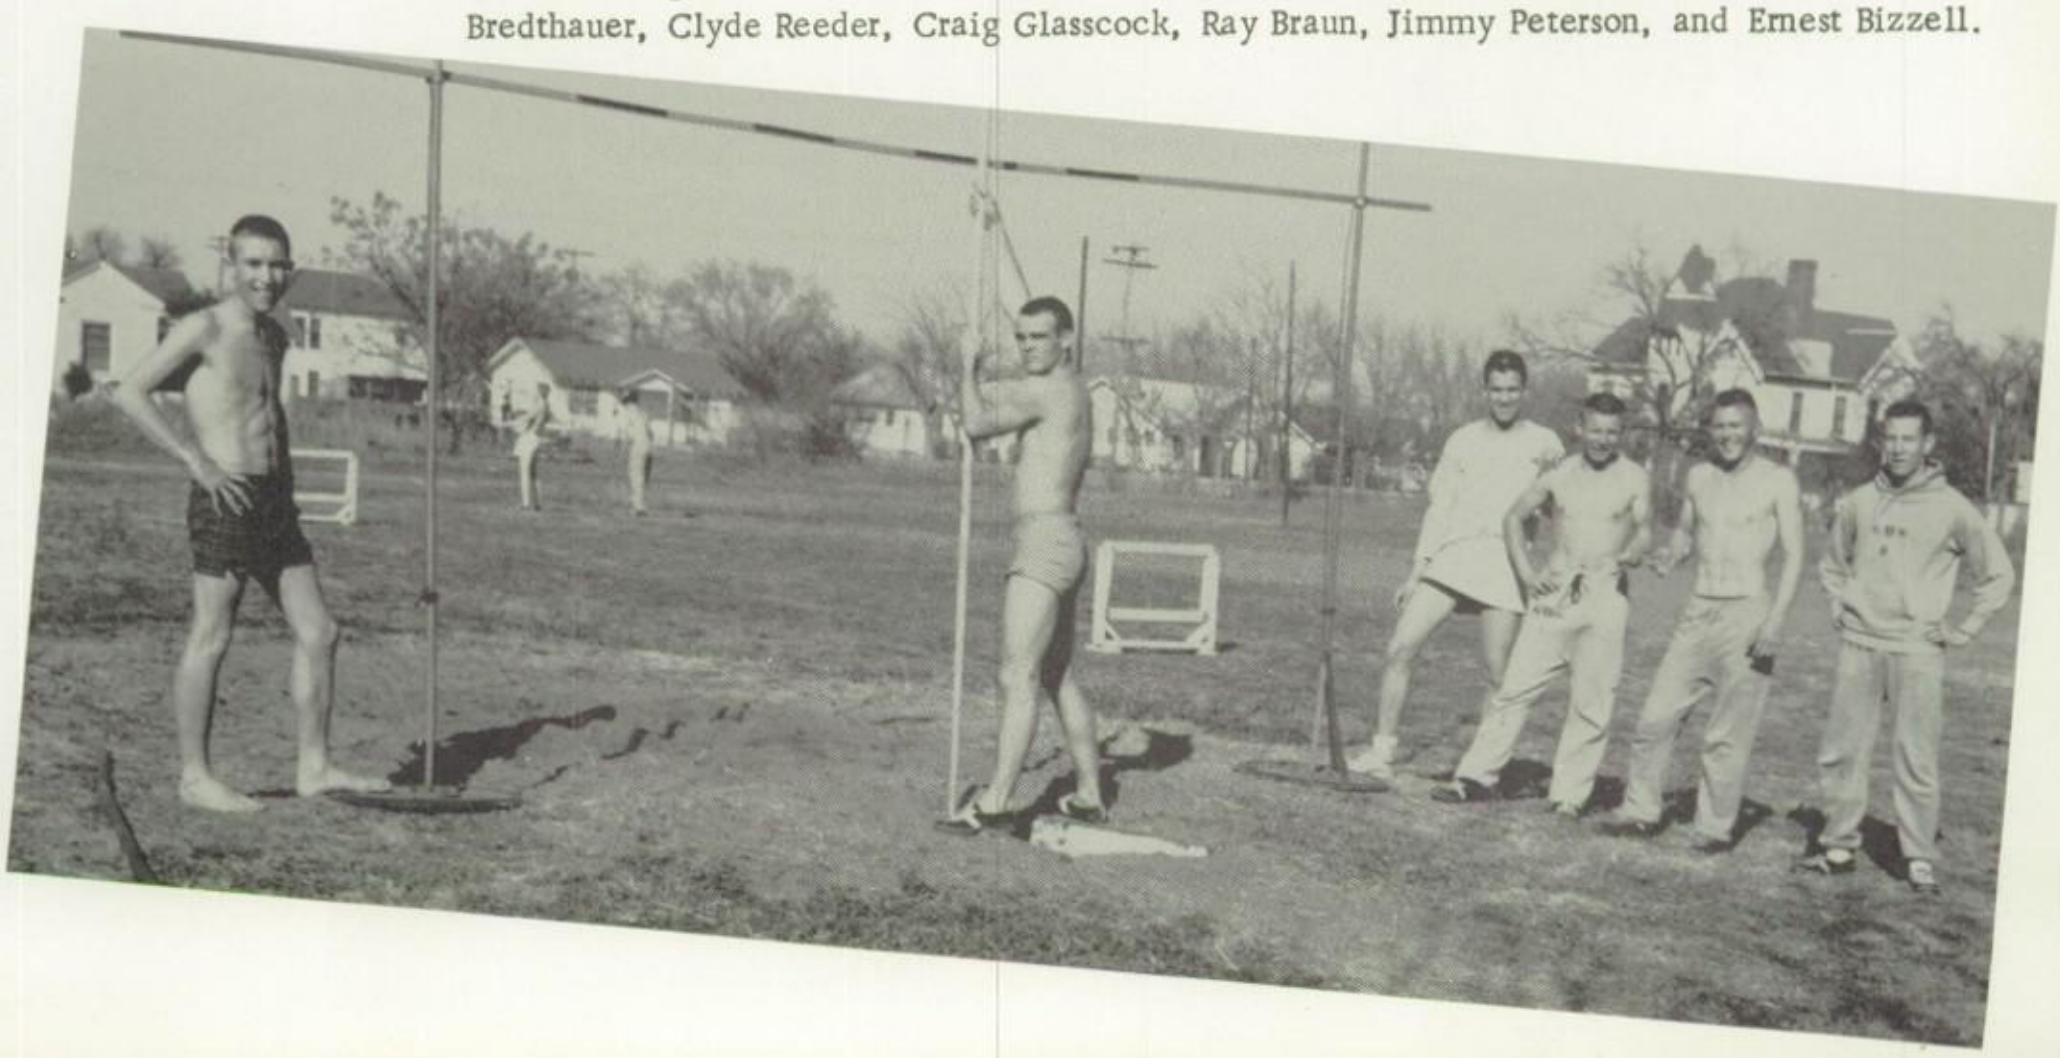
Track Team

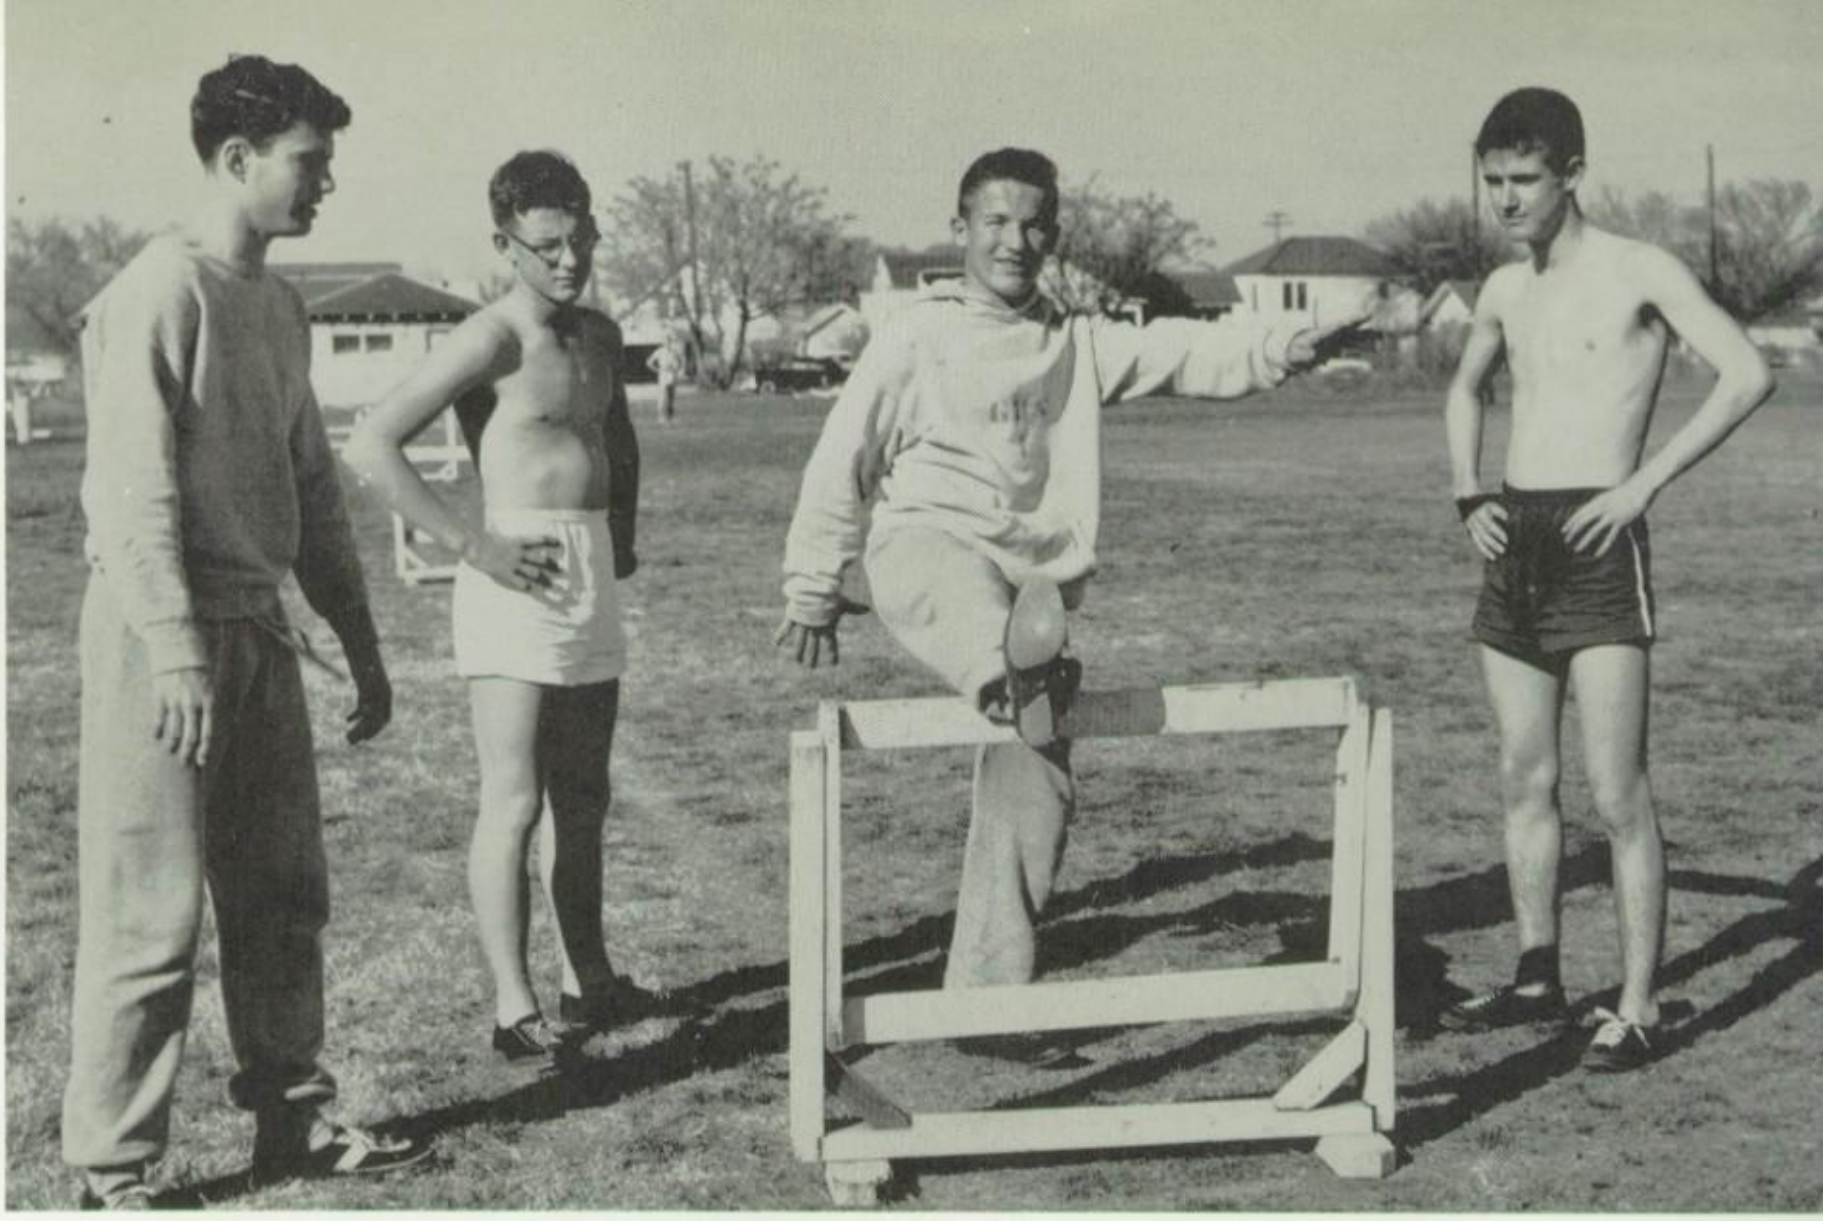
A fine group practicing their Baton Pass. David Lindell, Clyde Stovall, Jerry Moore, Isaias Almazon.

A proper start is very important in track events. Practicing, and hoping to master the technique are Douglas Mason, Gary Montgomery, Joe Villareal (whose start will be well criticized), Roger Middleton, and Bobby Kilpatrick.

Bud Bredthauer, Jack Purl, and Mike Woods are members of the Georgetown High School golf team. They will enter competition April 7th in the District Meet here in Georgetown.

Pole Vaulting is an art which all of these willing practitioners are eager to perfect. Bud Bredthauer, Clyde Reeder, Craig Glasscock, Ray Braun, Jimmy Peterson, and Ernest Bizzell.





Don Morris is showing Larry Reeder, Eddie Rogers, and Rusty Tubbs the correct way to lift your foot over the hurdle. . Or is he??

Coach Bell has charge of the track events, and he works hard to give all the boys who try out an opportunity to advance their skills. Ronnie Kasperik, James Davidson, David Burson, and Bill Elliott practice starts and sprints.

This group may not appear to be too well organized, but this is merely because they had to be photographed very early in the season. If our baseball boys follow the pattern set for them the past few seasons, we'll be able to report good things about their standing during the baseball season of '62. A last glimpse of some of the football boys, 1961-62.

Baseball and Football Banquet

Activities . . .

Assemblies

are sponsored by the Student Council; the Third Vice President, who is, this year, Susan McCook, acts as master or mistress of ceremonies. This is a difficult job - all of us should be proud of Susan's contribution to the welfare of our school.

"Hey, look us over, we're in the news"!

James B. Miller: (Representing a big wheel in Georgetown High School), "When you finish brushing me off, light my cigar, and then run out to see if my motorcycle is ready to shag."

One of the most photogenic of the assemblies was that by the paper staff (Eagle Echo) from which we give you glimpses.

Sham battle between Georgetown Eagles and Taylor Ducks recalls to every mind (even those who were not in school when it happened) the famous game on a wet field. Carolyn (Editor of Paper) served as coach, and reminds the "Duck" that he need not be afraid of the water on the field, 'cause he's prepared.

SOMETHING'S MISSING!

Well, lots of luck, anyway, paper staff typists!

Senior Assembly

The theme of the senior assembly was, "Around the World in 1800 Minutes." There were long hops, brief stops, astonishing sights from many lands.

Grand Finale of the assembly, when the members of the United Nations, the twisters, the Cubans, the Russians. . .in fact, everybody joined forces. Some members look as if they

In England we drop in on a tea-sipping Lord (Dane) and Lady (Alma), who not only chew crumpets, but chew out the brash American who comes to visit, played by Lindy Anderson, who managed the part quite well. (Normally?)

Below is a view of the departing Castro and one of his henchmen, who are putting the final touches on their clean-up campaign.

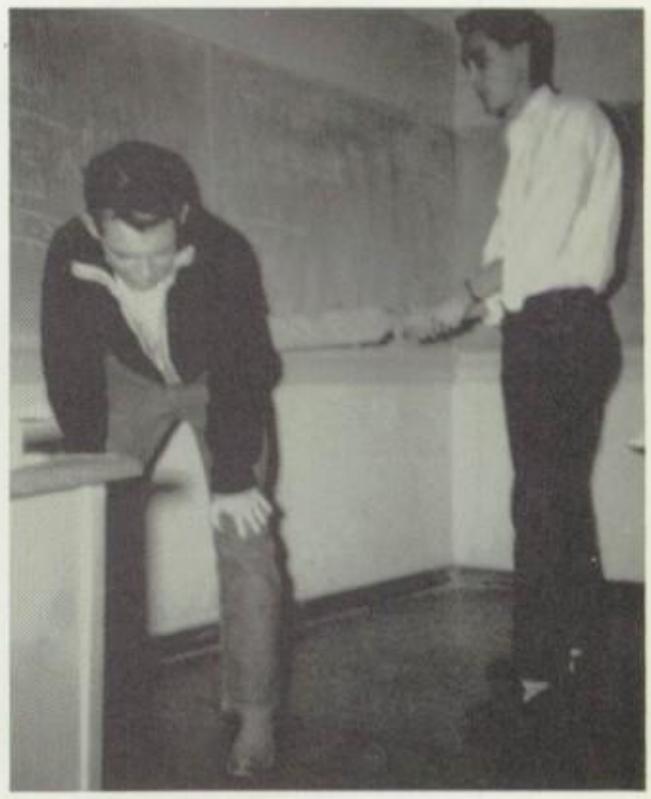
Gee Whiz! Whoever heard of a Care Package without Oreo, to go with my jello?

Wonder if flappers in Russia look like this? Dwight (representing Mr. K) spurns attention from his adoring one (Linda T.) and orders famous scientist (Sterling E.) to proceed with the rocket launch.

and Other Activities

feel slightly superior to some other members, but that's the way of the world!

Alice acts the part of a typical record-loving teenager.



Well, Miller, this makes 500. At the rate of ten a day, we can finish the other 500 licks by June.

Senior take-offs on advertisements included a skit by Linda Scarbrough and Joyce Partain, and a baby food advertisement by the Jacob cousins.

"Is Rosie Hankies your brand?" Linda defends the skit as follows, "Well, they do it on T. V., Mrs. Springer."

Big John (Jacob) says, "I'm Gerber's only business."

Annual Party

Alma, Susan, and Linda T. have little trouble making cats love birds since annual work gives one experience with all kinds of situations.

Eccentric Peaslee is threatened by Preston who can't stand the notes of the wooden flute. Linda endures it stoically.

Emily, Rita, and Jimmy help set the table for the party!

Cindy and Mildred help trim the tree while Annette plays with the cat, after the hamburger supper given the staff by the sponsor, Mrs. McClain.

Evelyn is so pleased! She likes to play with the blocks.

Band and Choir Parties

Paul appears to be trying for a high note while dancing at the Choir party.

There's nothing romantic in these "hands across the table." They are just trying to grasp some of the delicious food which has attracted several samplers at the band party refreshment table.

Susan, (above, center) is trying to get the M.C. to have the orchestra play Kelsey Anderson's request. Kelsey, thumb to mouth, is pouting until he gets a good, lively number to twist by.

No one needs to admonish the dancers (left, above) to pay attention to business.

It takes very little (a balloon will do) to amuse children and make them laugh.

The band party and the chorus party were on the pre-Christmas entertainment schedule. These are yearly institutions.

Junior Activities:

Sign Painting and Carnival

There's just not enough markers for all of us, kids!

Didn't think we could do it? Well??

These scenes are from a junior sign painting party just before the Taylor game.

My, we do look nice in our originally designed carnival hats!

Les joins cheerleaders. Hip, Hip, let her rip!

Well dressed fisherwomen at the fishing booth.

JAIL SCENE

Look, people, you said we'd only be here three minutes, and that was fifteen minutes ago! We don't mind helping the juniors make money, but...

At the hammering booth it's one thumb down and two to go!

Junior salesladies at the crazy hat booth call out their wares. Look at the money! They did a rushing business.

The battle cry at the parent-teacher basketball game was, "All right, girls, let's mob 'em!"

In spite of Les's quizzical look, Sylvia and Charles happily invite customers. All booths were well patronized, and the profits, combined with sales of stage show tickets, netted about $600.

Pretty maidens Louise Richter and Margaret Cooksey sported red jackets and white skirts as they changed signs for the various acts.

Eighth grader Sarah Hausenfluke made a fine contribution with her song, "Hey, Look Me Over."

Chorines sing out, "Here's Bernieeeee Lax"! Mr. Lax then quipped his way through the assignment of Master of Ceremonies.

A pyramid of tumblers. Their act was really remarkably professional.

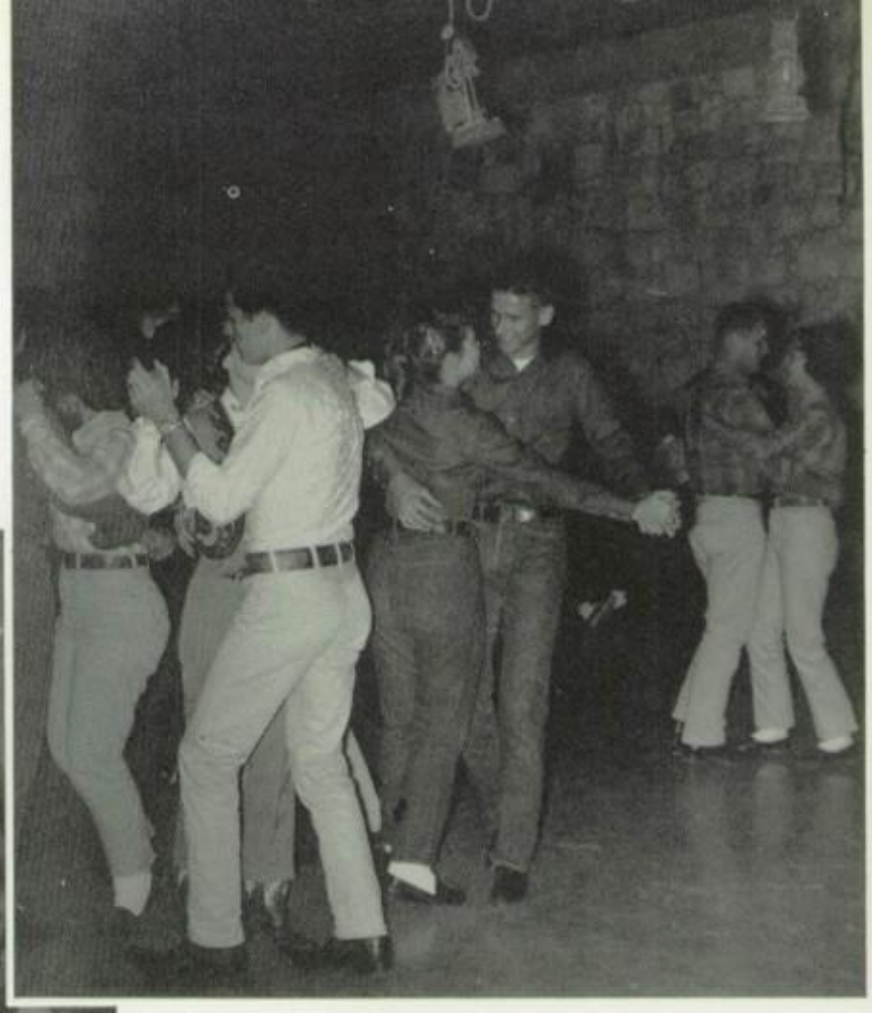
One of the favorite numbers from the stage show was "North Pacific," which featured girls, girls..all kinds of girls, and these sailor boys, who sang "There's Nothing Like a Dame."

Claudia Hardin (to the left, below) and Judy Fisher put on skating acts, showing skilled technique.

A practice session of the chorus, which shows how they looked before lots of hard work put on the polish.

Senior Party

"Watch it, podner; don't drop the ashes from your cigar into the punch!"



Making a stand for Democratic principles, the seniors associate freely with out-of-class partners.

Invited square dancers from Austin put on a demonstration before they joined the fun with some of our "square" dancers.

All western scenes are by courtesy of seniors, from their big "Western" party on February 2nd.

Trial run on that first long march of the graduation class from school to church shows the seniors as on their way to Baccalaureate.

Oh, they're the truest of the true,
The famous class of '62.

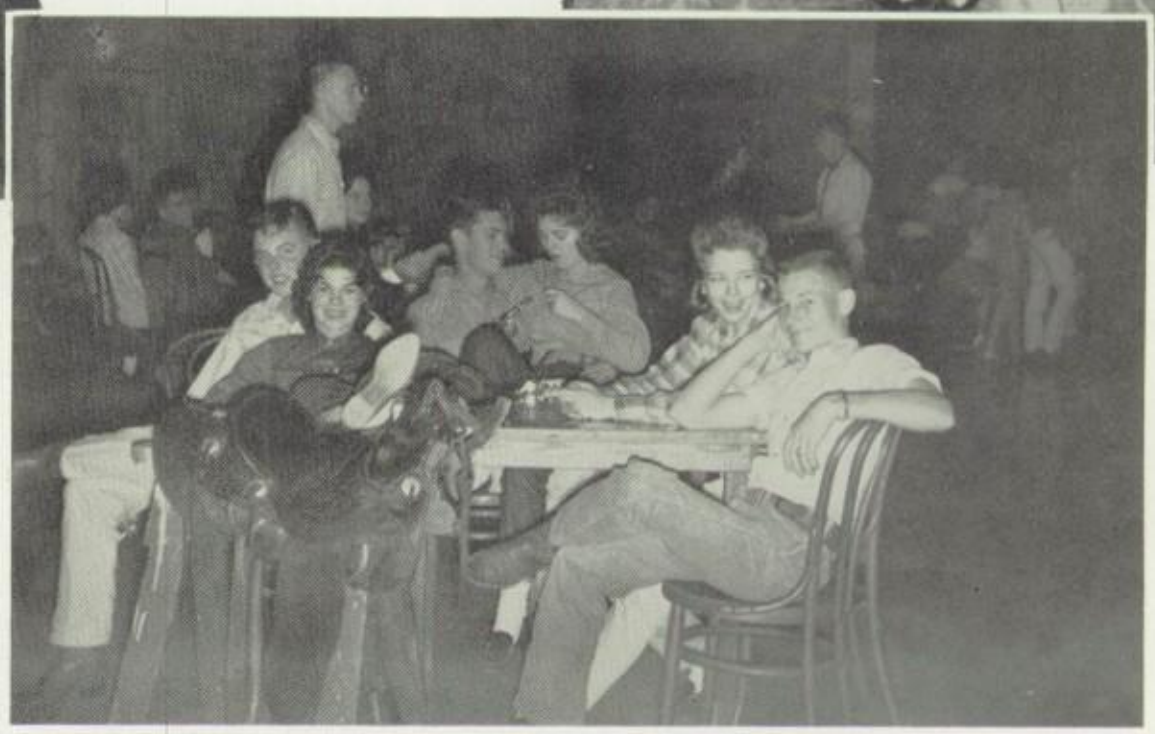
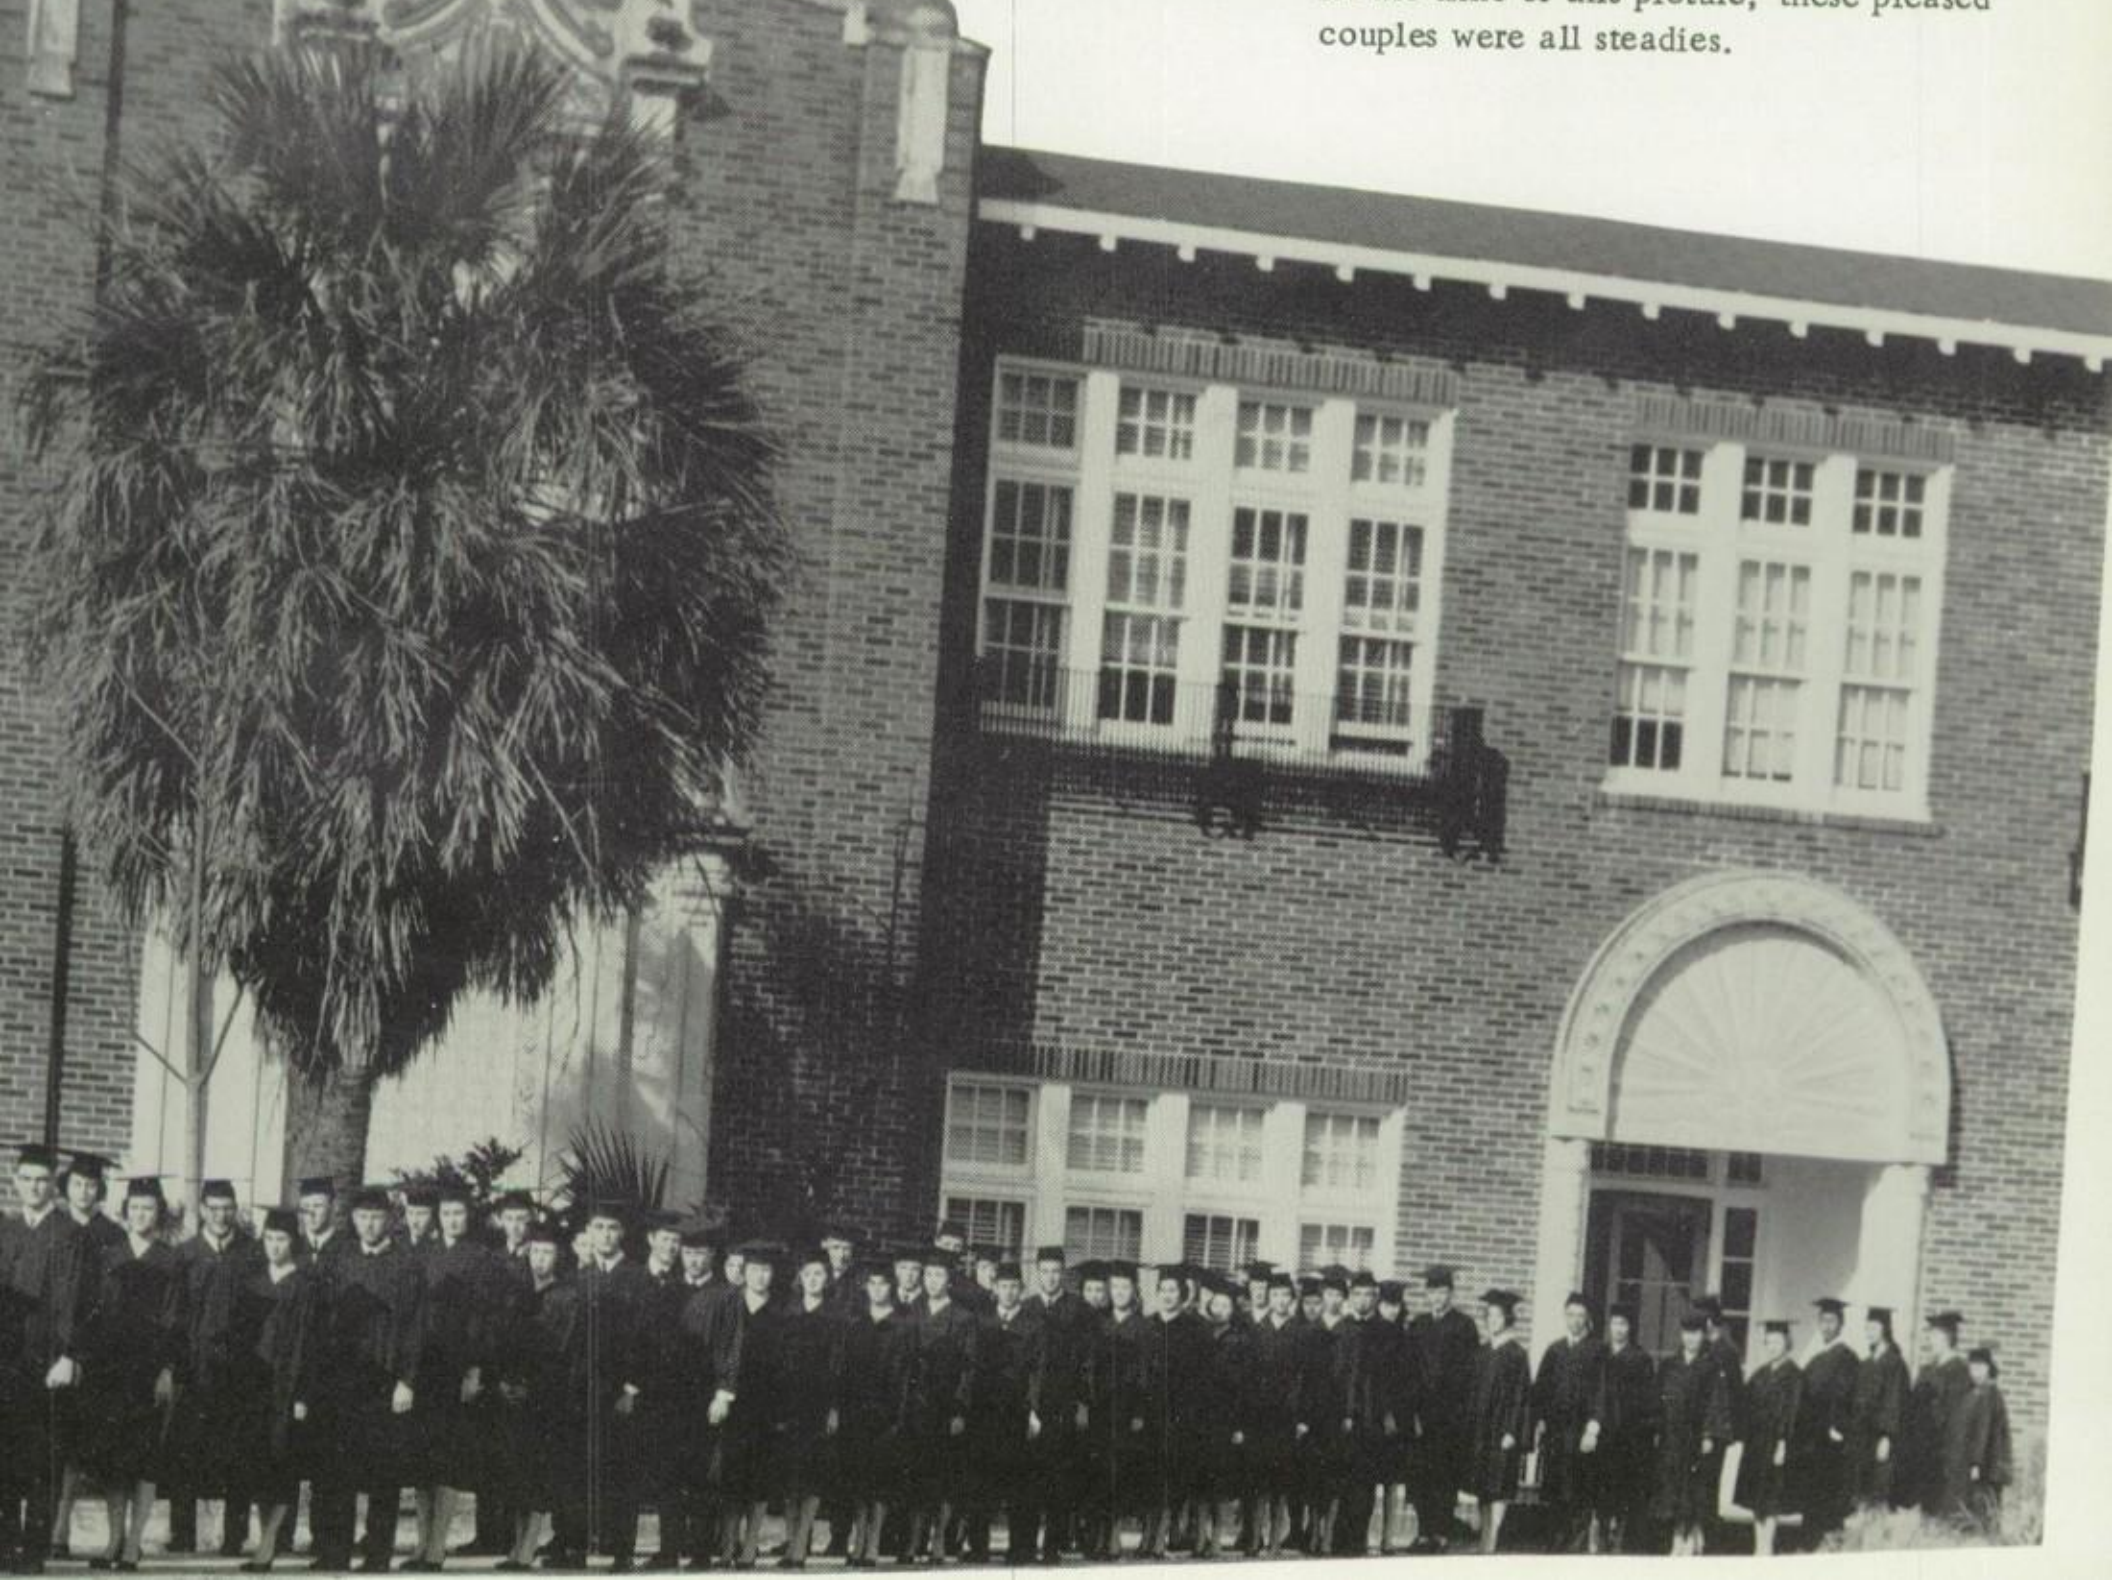
Goes Western

Kandy: "Ah, ha! I love to get in on senior secrets!"

Notice the saw-horse ready for a fast get-away in case Dwight's music is not well received.



At the time of this picture, these pleased couples were all steadies.



As We Go to Press . . .

Whee!

Mr. Joe Wynne received the announcement that he had been offered an appointment to the Academic Year Institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Mr. Wynne has accepted this appointment, and will attend the University of Texas to obtain a Master of Arts degree. He is one of forty persons in Texas who received this fine award which includes a liberal stipend. All of us who know what an excellent teacher Mr. Wynne is rejoice that he has been granted a leave of absence, and will be back in Georgetown, a little older, a little wiser, but still our fine math teacher!

Look above, left, to see ham actors who make up some of the Soc'n'Buskin membership.

This is serious business. . . If you stand in line long enough, you reach the punch!

This was the day the astronaut circled the globe, and we stayed put in the auditorium. . listening.

Freshman girls are madly sewing after school, hoping to finish their garments for a spring style show.

Junior high boys will act like junior high boys, even at a coronation.

Last Minute Addenda
